

What Proposition 320 would mean for:

FOUNTAIN HILLS UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT

Prop 320: No new school funding. No guaranteed teacher raises.

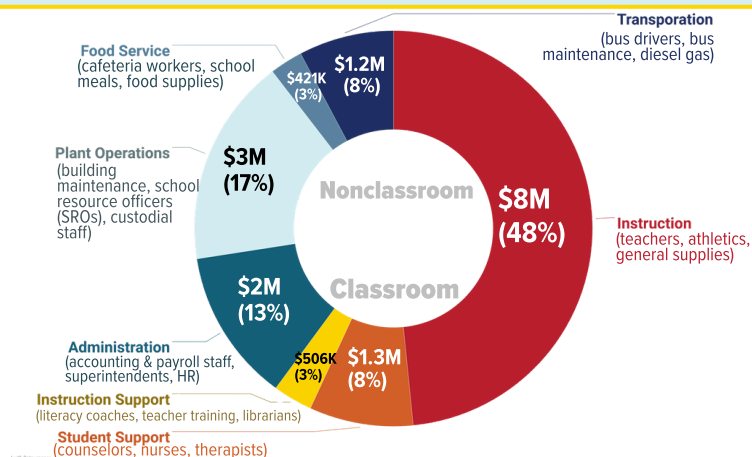

Instead, it imposes an unclear rule on already underfunded public schools and will likely lead to teacher pay cuts, classroom cuts, and more if districts do not comply.

Fountain Hills Unified Budget Snapshot

Public school budgets pay for instruction, student support, and classroom resources, along with transportation, meals, plant operations, and administration.

All of these resources play a key role in student learning and teacher supports.

Like families, schools face rising costs that outpace their funding. Schools already spend more than half their budgets on classrooms and try to make the most of limited, and often shrinking funds.

-$1.8M

In cuts to meet 60% target with $0 new dollars

Prop 320 would put more financial pressure on public schools by requiring 60% of spending to go toward “instruction”, just one of three types of classroom support.

For Fountain Hills Unified, that means cutting at least $1.8 million (equal to instruction support and student support costs) from other services, with no requirement to direct funding to teacher pay.

Prop 320 gives schools time to reach the 60% target
but provides no extra funding.

Fountain Hills Unified would have to cut at least an additional $78,600 every year until meeting 60% from other student supports, including school safety officers, cafeteria staff, literacy coaches, bus drivers, counselors, and accountants.

-$79K

In cuts to student resources
each year with $0 new dollars

-$274K

In loss of teacher funding per year if noncompliant

... AND Prop 320 punishes teachers if schools don't comply

Schools that don't meet Prop 320's yearly spending requirement would lose 25% of their teacher pay funding each year—and all of it after four years.

Fountain Hills Unified could lose about $274,200 a year for teacher pay, with that money going to other public and charter schools.

BUT there is a better way to help our teachers and students!

Policymakers should fund Prop 320's 60% target instead of forcing schools to cut essential services.

Fountain Hills Unified would need at least $4.6 million in additional funding each year to meet the target without cutting other school needs.

$4.6M

Minimum funding needed to reach 60% with no cuts
